Probate Court—Judge Cleveland.

Notice was filed in the probate court yesterday afternoon by E. P. Arvine, counsel for George A. Isbell, the real estate dealer, of an appeal from the decision of the probate court in the famous Isbell will case.

Judge Cleveland rendered his decision about a month ago, sustaining all the claims of the heirs excepting that of Dr. Fitch of Bridgeport, who, it was alleged, had exercised undue influence over the testator. In the original will of Mary A. Isbell, George A. Isbell was the sole beneficiary. In a second will, however, several other relatives were left a share of the estate. It is the second will which Mr. Isbell is contesting. The case now goes to the superior court.

Court Notes.

QUIGLEY BOUND OVER.
Thomas H. Quigley, the burglar who entered Thomas H. Sullivan's saloon at 88 Church street on the night of August 15 was in the city court yesterday morning. Attorney John A. Doolittle appeared as his counsel and waived examination, and Quigley was bound over in $500 to the October term of the superior court.

In the superior court yesterday Judge Baldwin dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Susan Butler of Meriden from the decision of the county commissioners, who located a telephone pole in front of her property. Appraisers were appointed to assess damages. Seth J. Hall, also of Meriden, withdrew his appeal from the county commissioners in a similar matter.

GARNISHED THE WAGES.

Taking advantage of the new law that was recently passed by the legislature, Mrs. Catherine Clancy of Portsea street yesterday garnished the wages of James Farley and John Carey, employees of the Consolidated railroad. Both owed Mrs. Clancy $200 for board, which she claims she was unable to collect. Yesterday morning Deputy Sheriff Koon garnished the men's wages.

FUNERAL OF MRS. NEWELL F. BURRITT.

The funeral of Mrs. Burritt, wife of Newell F. Burritt, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of the bereaved family on Edwards street. Many friends were in attendance, and there were a number of beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Charles O. Scoville, assistant pastor of Trinity church, officiated in the absence of Rev. Mr. Luckey, who is in the Adirondacks. The bearers were well known citizens, among them being Captain A. H. Hayes and William Murphy. The interment was in the Fair Haven cemetery.

FAIR HAVEN.

Lively blaze at 244 Chapel Street—Barge Gale stuck at Chapel Street Bridge—Knight Templars Going to Boston—Funeral of Walter D. Allen—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon William Pohlman of Lloyd street discovered a blaze on the roof of the double house at 244 Chapel street, owned by Michael Mooney. An alarm was rung in, and by the prompt efforts of the firemen a serious fire was averted. The flames destroyed about half of the roof, the western side being the most damaged. The ceilings on the second floor were ruined by the water and much damage was done to the furniture. There was no fire in the house at the time the blaze started, and it is believed that it started from a spark blown from some factory chimney near by. This is very probable, as there are woodworking shops in the vicinity, which use shavings for fuel. The damage is estimated at between $200 and $300. The insurance is carried through McNeill's agency.

Yesterday morning the tug E. P. Avery attempted to tow the barge Gale, loaded deeply with soft coal, up the Mill river through Chapel street drawbridge. Near the abutment of the bridge the barge stuck in the mud and after two hours' work the attempt to pass the bridge was given up. Miss Hattie Browning of Westerly, R. I., is visiting Mrs. William Sheffield of Houston street.

Among the Fair Haveners who will attend the twenty-sixth triennial convocation of Knights Templar in Boston next week are Francis Ray, W. A. Waterbury, H. W. Crawford, William A. Warner, William E. Morgan, J. R. Bolton, Miles P. Tuttle, R. B. Farren, E. A. Holliday, Captain Harvey Barnes, Arthur D. Perkins, Chauncey Clark, Robert Burwell and W. M. Kings.
